FIND BODY OF BOY WHO KILLED GIRL

Harvey Gartrell Shot, Arta Jenkins Because She Spurned Him.

CARROLL COUNTY MURDER

Body Found Just Six Weeks After Shooting Occurred. Officers Thought He Had Escaped.

Hardly recognizable, the body of Harvey Gartrell, 20, Morgans, Md., who shot and instantly killed his sweetheart, Arta Iris Jenkins, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jenkins, Barret, Carroll county, six weeks ago Sunday, was found in the Monocacy river, near Frederick Junction, at noon Sunday.

The body of the youth, who had been rejected by Miss Jenkins, was found almost exactly six weeks to the hour from the time of the crime at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hess, at Buckeystown, grandparents of the girl, with whom she had been making her home. The recovery of the body ends the long search, which puzzled the officers, who thought that possibly Gartrell had escaped, following his mad automobile ride from the Hess home from a point near Frederick, where he jumped into the Monocacy river. It likewise fulfills the prophecy of Santry Gartrell, father of the youth, who told officers he was confident that his son would never be captured alive and that he would either drown or shoot himself.

Found By Walter Harman.

The body was found by Walter Harman, and rested partly submerged against a portion of an abandoned fish pot wall. Sheriff James A. Jones was notified, and indentification made. In the pockets were found two water-soaked letters signed "Arta," a locket containing a small picture of the girl, a wrist watch, and another small watch, and an automobile registration card on which was the blurred name of Gartrell. He wore a brown suit of clothing and brown shoes.

Following the disappearance of Gartrell after the shooting at Buckeystown, an empty purse, a photograph, and a letter were found on the banks of the Monocacy, about a mile and a half east of Frederick. It is thought that Gartrell jumped into the flooded river at this point. His body washed about a mile and a half down stream.

Were Childhood Playmates.

Gartrell and Miss Jenkins had been childhood playmates. As the years passed Gartrell fell in love with his playmate, and asked her to marry

NO ILL EFFECTS FROM SCHICK TEST

Principal of Biglerville Schools Makes Report to School Board.

PUPILS LOST NO TIME

Grade Schools Preparing For Final Examinations. Annual Community Day to be Held April 21.

Contrary to some reports relative to the administration of the Schick Test to the public school children, the attendance of the Biglerville schools did not suffer as a result of the giving of the test. There was not a half day lost by reason of illness which resulted. This information was conveyed to the Biglerville Board of Directors in April meeting by the Supervising Principal of the Schools.

This report showed that 145 of the 188 children of the district and five of the seven teachers submitted themselves to the test. There was not a case of tardiness or absence recorded for which the excuse was illness due to the test, it was reported. In commenting upon the manner of administering the test, Principal C. C. Muehe said, "The physicians were considerate of the children in giving the test and interfered as little as possible with the regular school work. No complaint of any kind can be made concerning their action in our schools."

The monthly report showed that the attendance averaged 96 per cent in all the schools with the Grammar school being high with 99 per cent and the Primary school low with 88 per cent. Four new pupils were gained in the schools as a result of April movings, bringing the total of pupils up to 194. Three notices of illegal attendance were served on parents during the month.

The scholastic work of the schools is progressing with the courses of study almost completed and reviews being made in preparation for the yearly examinations which will be held during the latter part of this month, the principal said. The grade schools will close on May 1st and the High School will close on May 29th. Commencement for the Eighth grade pupils will be held on Monday evening, May 1, in the High School Auditorium and for the High School on May 26, in Thomas Brothers Hall.

The annual Community Day of the schools will be held on April 21 as has been customary during the past few years. On this day, special programs will be held in the schools, with exhibitions of the work of the school child-

MUST DRAW FOR PLACE ON TICKET

Four Aspirants For Democratic Nomination to Legislature Form Only Local Contest.

TO DRAW LOTS THIS WEEK

Following Assignments of Positions Names Will be Certified to County Commissioners For Printing.

Drawings will be held in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth some time this week for positions of candidates on the ticket at the coming primary election. Every candidate for a nomination in which more than one nominating petition had been filed will have to draw lots for position on the ballot, either in person or by proxy. Secretary of the Commonwealth Bernard J. Myers will preside at the drawings as he did when the drawing occurred for place on the judicial ballot last year. It is expected that hundreds of candidates will be directly interested.

This provision affects candidates for gubernatorial and senatorial nominations as well as those running for legislative honors in rural counties. Last year this was an interesting ceremony as women appeared for the first time and some of the persons attending were armed with proxies to draw lots for several candidates. The certification of the names of County Commissioners for printing upon the ballots for the May primary will follow soon after the drawing for position takes place. Clerks in the State Bureau of Elections were busy on Saturday checking up the names and other data on petitions so there can be no mistakes.

Among those who withdrew their petitions for nomination before the time expired on Friday was Dr. Charles G. Wiley, of York, who had announced his intention of running for the Democratic nomination for Congress from this district. His withdrawal followed the filing of papers by Samuel F. Gladfelter, also of York. Dr. Wiley withdrew from the race in the interest of party harmony, leaving Mr. Gladfelter unopposed for the

TREES NEAR BLOSSOMS

Rising Temperatures Bring Leaves And Buds Out Rapidly.

Rising temperatures and sunshine, following a week of rain and cold, Sunday brought out leaves and buds on shade trees rapidly and early fruit trees could almost be seen breaking into blossom. Fruit tree buds in the apple orchards of the county pushed and several more days of high temperatures will bring blossoms.

Fruit men are optimistic over the prospects for apple and peach crops. The trees generally have wintered well and the chance of a freeze coming this late in the season are remote. Orchardists are now in their busiest time and with a week of fair weather the trees will receive the spraying treatments that the rain of last week prevented.

Sunday brought out motorists by the hundreds, but there were few out-of-the-county cars. Guides were in evidence, but the day was a disappointment to them, as few of the visitors came to see the field.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Mary Bechtel, of Littlestown, was admitted to the Warner Hospital Sunday for treatment. She is suffering from an infected leg resulting from a dog bite. Mrs. Mary Shetter and baby were also admitted Sunday. Luther Creager of Fairfield, was admitted for diagnosis this morning.

CARS COLLIDE AT ABBOTTSTOWN

First Serious Accident of Year in Section Where Many Have Happened.

In a crash on the Lincoln Highway about one mile east of Abbottstown Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock one woman was seriously injured and a man slightly bruised and shaken. The accident was the only serious one of the day and is considered remarkable because of the large number of machines that appeared on the principal highways.

Mrs. Missouri Redding, aged 53 years, of Hanover, sustained several fractured ribs on the left side, a fractured left shoulder blade and a bad laceration on the scalp requiring five stitches to close. Elmer Redding, her husband, was badly shaken in the accident but suffered no broken bones.

According to information received, Mr. Redding was driving west on the highway on the left side of the road and crashed head-on into the car driven by Clarence Green, of West York. Both machines were damaged in the collision. The injured woman and Mr. Redding were brought to York and were taken to the York hospital. Mrs. Redding's condition was regarded as serious.

PALMS DECORATE CHURCHES

Ideal Weather Brings Large Audiences to Edifices.

Emblematic palms in profusion decorated Gettysburg edifices and churches in the county on Palm Sunday, proclaiming the story, centuries old, of Christs triumphal entry into the Holy City of Jerusalem. Sermons and special musical numbers by choirs and soloists had for their theme the triumphal entry into the Holy City at the beginning of Holy Week.

A number of congregations will hold special services each night this week, excepting Saturday. Communion services were held in several churches in the county Sunday and others will observe this ceremony on Easter Sunday.

REPORT ATTACKS LITTLE NAVY PLAN

Minority Say if Adopted, Program Would Make United States Third-Rate Power.

WANT TO KEEP 5-5-3 RATIO

Will Ask Navy Personnel of 80,000. Prospects For Amendment to Provide Larger Navy, Said to be Good.

Washington, April 10.—The proposal of the House Appropriations Committee for a navy in 1923 of 67,000 men and 6356 officers was vigorously attacked yesterday in a minority report signed by five Republicans and one Democrat, and in a statement issued by Representatives Britten of Illinois and McArthur of Oregon, Republican members of the House Naval Committee.

A reduction of the naval forces of the United States to the extent recommended by the Committee would ignore "the basic naval policy" set down by the Arms Conference, the minority report declared, asserting that an enlisted personnel of 80,000 with 6000 apprentices, would be necessary to keep the United States abreast with Great Britian and ahead of Japan.

Representative Britten said if the bill "had been framed by British and Japanese delegates" with the intention of wrecking the American Navy "they could not have more deliberately reduced the United States to a third rate power," while Representative McArthur said a canvass he had made gave him hopes of the adoption of an amendment providing for 80,000 men.

Ignores Naval Policy

"For the first time in its history" said the Minority report filed by six members of the Appropriations Committee, "this country has adopted a naval policy. It means equality with the strongest. If that policy is now disregarded by adoption of the naval bill, we will sink to the rank of a third rate naval power with little voice in any future world councils. No one doubts that the potential superiority of the American Navy was the controlling factor in the negotiations of the recent Conference. Had our delegates negotiated a treaty that placed his country below Great Britain or Japan in naval strength, they would have been denounced as traitors—not a single vote of the Senate would have been recorded in its favor—yet this bill proposes to place this country in that very position."

The report was signed by Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts; Vare, Pennsylvania; Watson, New Hampshire; Magee and Husted, New York, Republicans, and Gallivan, Massachusetts, Democrat.

"The underlying principle on which in future the strength of our Navy must be determined is its strength in relation to Great Britian and Japan," the report said. "This is the policy of the 5-5-3 ratio, that is equality with Great Britian and 5-3 of the strength of Japan.

WILL END LEFT-HANDEDNESS

School Officials Say Habit Can Be Broken.

Detriot, Mich., April 10.—In an effort to eliminate "left-handedness" among school children in the city, T. J. Knapp, superintendent of schools at Highland Park, a suburb, has ordered that a census be taken to learn which of the children use their left hands in preference to their right Following the census the left-handed children will be taught to write with their right hands, it is announced

"The world is much more conveniently arranged for right-handed persons," Mr. Knapp said in explaining his action

The superintendent scouts the theory that left-handed persons are in danger of stammering in their speech if they are "made over" into right-handed persons

"There is no evidence to support this theory," he said. "No persons should be left-handed It is an inconvenient habit"

DYING WIFE ACCUSES HUSBAND

Hearse Used as Ambulance to Take Woman to Hospital.

Huntingdon, Pa., April 10—Dr. Herbert Bryson, aged 48, a hero of the Rainbow Division in the World War and one of Huntingdon county's most prominent physicians, was held here last night on the charge of mudering his pretty, young wife. She died at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, in the Blair Memorial Hospital here, of a bullet wound of the stomach, inflicted by a shot fired from Dr. Bryson's 45-calibre army revolver, authorities say.

Dr. Bryson declared his wife shot herself at their beautiful home at Cassville, a farming community, 23 miles south of Huntingdon. Mrs. Bryson, who was 26 years old, and an attractive brunette, accused her husband in an ante-mortem statement of firing point blank at her after a quarrel. Following the shooting, which occurred between 5.30 and 6 o'clock Saturday night, Dr. Bryson and Myron McClain, an undertaker, drove the dying woman over the mountainous roads to Huntingdon in a motorized hearse, the only vehicle available as an ambulance. Arriving at the hospital, Dr. Bryson told the authorities Mrs. Bryson had attempted suicide. When surgeons told Mrs. Bryson that she would die, she summoned District Attorney Chester D. Fetterhoof.

"We quarreled," she told him. "I went to the second floor. After I had bathed I went to a room at the northwest end of the house and locked myself in . I was afraid. The doctor came to the door and ordered me to open it. Then he broke it down and rushed in, pointed his revolver at me and fired."

COAL TONNAGE CUT 60 PER CENT

Review of Strike Shows Less Soft Coal Mined Than at Any Time in History.

NO ANTHRACITE PRODUCED

Operators Declare Lack of Demand is Responsible For Small Production of Bituminous Coal.

Washington, April 10—Production of bituminous coal in the United States dropped to 3,500,000 tons, the lowest in modern coal history, while work in the anthracite fields "ceased entirely" during the first week of the coal strike, according to a review of the industry issued yesterday by the United States Geological Survey.

Reports received by the survey indicated that from 60 to 64 per cent of the bituminous tonnage of the country has been closed down by the strike, while of the remainder "a significant portion has not been operating recently for lack of demand." In the first week of the 1919 strike, the survey said, 71 per cent of the bituminous fields were closed, but the anthracite mines operated at capacity."

Taking April 3 as the first real test of the effect of the strike, the survey noted that coal loadings aggregated 11,445 cars, against 38,056 cars on the same day of the preceding week. This total was continued without substantial change through the next five days, fixing an estimated production for the week of 3,500,000 tons.

Production of bituminous increased almost to the last shift before the strike call, but because of the decline on the last day of the week, Saturday, April 1, the aggregate production of 10,453,000 tons was slightly under that of the preceding week.

Heavy production also marked the last five working days in the anthracite fields, according to the survey, 36,255 cars being loaded.

Bituminous coal production during the first week of the coal strike was estimated at slightly under 4,000,000 tons by the National Coal Association, which declared that while this tonnage was below the capacity of the non-union fields, "the only reason for the restricted production is to be found in the inability of the operators to find a market for their coal."

"Thousands of cars of coal are standing on the mine sidings awaiting billing orders," a statement issued by the association said. "Rqports from non-union fields state that production is running at various rates from 40 per cent to 70 per cent or 80 per cent of normal. In the union fields the factor limiting production is, in general, the strike, but in the non-union fields the limiting factor is described as continued lack of orders.

The "f. o. b. spot" price of bituminous is practically at the lowest price reached at any time since the United States entered the World War, the statement said, adding that consumers thus far have displayed no anxiety as to fuel supply.

TIDE TURNING TO FARMERS

Reports From Various States Show Outlook Brighter For Farmers.

New York, April 10—Conviction that the farmers of the United States have "turned the corner" and are now started on the road to normally prosperous conditions was the consensus of statements by Governors of leading agricultural States made public here yesterday.

The assurances were given in response to an inquiry by E. A. Strout to ascertain the facts concerning the agricultural situation. They came from agricultural States representative of all sections of the country, from New England to the Plains States of the Middle West and from the Great Lakes to Virginia and Mississippi.

Regarded as Accurate

In making these reports public, Mr. Strout expressed the belief that they reflected accurately a widespread condition extending throughout the farming States from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky Mountains.

Some of the Governors not only asserted that the farming situation was improved, but forecast imminent improvements in the industry generally.

Ohio Governor Optimistic

One of the most optimistic of the statements came from Governor Harry L. Davis, of Ohio, who telegraphed:

"Our Department of Agriculture has made a survey of farm conditions in Ohio. Glad to advise that agriculturally Ohio farmers are on the upgrade. Improvement in price of farm products and improved marketing conditions have given Ohio farmers renewed hope, and 1922 gives every indication of being a more prosperous year than the past.

Ohio is in as sound condition as any State in the Union. We have turned the corner and are going forward agriculturally, industrially and commercially."

What Sproul Has to Say

Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania: "I feel that all conditions point to better times for agriculture in Pennsylvania. There may be some delay due to disturbance incident to the threatened coal strike, etc., but I feel that much better industrial conditions are imminent and that our farmers, being so close to the markets, will benefit."

MONKEY MEAT FOR SUNDAY

Mexico City, April 10—A hunters' paradise is Mexico and almost within sight of the capital are forests that abound in wild game, offered at all seasons in the Mexico City markets.

Venison is a staple and wild ducks and geese may be purchased for a few centavos. Live quail as well as varieties of pheasants and pigeons are sold on the streets by peddlers. Indians from the hills frequently trudge to the city with a wild boar and turkeys may be had for the price of a paltry tip to a native hunter.

If one is so inclined a tender monkey may be procured for Sunday baking—a dish that Mexican epicures, especially of the tropical regions, relish above all others.

A bit further removed from Mexicc City lie the jungles of Vera Cruz and Guerrero, where tigers, leopards and even small lions make their home. Sportsmen who have visited these regions assert the hunting is as good there as is to be found in Africa.

SHUMAN'S

YOUR HAND

How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—the Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm.

THE FINGER NAILS

WE FIND sometimes in the hand of a woman short nails combined with the following characteristics:

The line of the heart (the upper of the two lines crossing the palm horizontally) is short, and the head line underneath it is straight and inclined to turn up toward the finger of Mercury, the little finger. The mount of Mercury is flat and covered with lines, and the mounts of the moon and of Mars (at the outside of the edge of the palm) are high. The joints of the hand are very plainly visible.

These are the marks of a woman of harsh disposition and quarrelsome nature, and they are made more strong by the shortness of the nails. For a confirmation of this sign of quarrelsomeness, consult the triangle formed by the line of life, the line of the head and the line of health. If there is a decided cross to be perceived in this triangle, we may say with fairly good assurance that the disposition of the possessor is pugnacious and quarrelsome.

nomination. Mahlon N. Haines, a York merchant, is the only aspirant for the nomination on the Republican ticket.

Dr. Eugene Elgin, of East Berlin, following his announcement early in the week, withdrew his petitions on the last day as candidate for the Republican nomination to the State Assembly from this district. This action leaves the field open to M. E. Knouse, of Brysonia. The opposing Democrats for this office are Elmer B. Lau, East Berlin, Otis G. Baughman, Gettysburg, Grover C. Myers, Gardners and D. Calvin Rudisill, of Mt. Joy township. These four will be among those who must draw for position on the primary ballot, and incidentally the only candidates from this county who are engaged in a contest within their party.

Warner hospital, met the Littlestown board of health, and determined upon a course of action. CURTAIN!

Storm Country Polly

by Grace Miller White

Illustrated by R. H. Livingstone

"Glory be to God!" ejaculated the man, hoarsely, "that's the how of it, brat! It'll be a whack for my dead woman, an'—"

"An' a good whack for the Hopkins tribe, too," cried Polly, scrambling up.

She Turned to the Door but Halted With Her Hand on the Latch.

"It'll be a black Thanksgiving for Old Marc, huh, Larry?—I'm goin' back home now."

She turned to the door, but halted with her hand on the latch.

"You promised I could do it, Larry," she reminded him. "You'll tell Lye Braeger that, too, won't you?"

Sinking limply into his chair, Bishop wiped his wet lips.

"Yep, lass," he assented with a groan. "You can turn the trick; I promise you that."

If Jeremiah Hopkins had seen his girl, his Polly of the Sun, when she went home that night, he would not have recognized her. Her face was crafty, pitiless, and as white as the snow under her feet.

Then she waited stoically day after day, feeding the billy goat but absentmindedly, asking no questions of Larry or Lye Braeger how soon her idea could be carried out. She believed that they would leave no stone unturned to even up with Marcus MacKenzie.

Early one evening Larry Bishop burst into the Hopkins hut without the formality of a knock. He looked years older than he had but yesterday; and Pollyup got up, locking and interlocking her fingers.

"Well?" she asked from between chattering teeth.

"It's done, by God!" he hissed, almost strangling behind a shaking hand. "It were most awful, Polly. If I'd stuck a hog in the gizzard, the squealin' couldn't 'a' been worser."

The speaker's tones, his half-bent figure, his shifty glances, brought a grunt from the girl.

"An' you're gettin' sorry by the minute, Larry Bishop, I can see that," she returned, giving him a smart rap. "Stand up, Larry man. Once—" A sudden rush of emotion thrust into her throat such an ache that for several seconds she was unable to conclude. "Once," she repeated, after clearing away the huskiness with a hacking cough, "I thought love were the greatest thing in the world. But it ain't, Larry Bishop, it ain't!"

Bishop fidgeted with his cap, turning it around and around by its brim. When he looked up, the burning glow had died from the depths of his eyes.

"It's a sickenin' thing to see a woman suffer that bad," he muttered. "God, brat!—Nope! Don't say nothin' till I tell you what me an' Lye did!"

At the memory of it, the speaker wiped drops of sweat from his face.

"She bellered about lovin' her ma," droned Bishop, "an' the way she hollered in my hut for her man was something scand'lous."

"Like your Betty died a-howlin' for you, I s'pose, Larry," came back the girl promptly. "An' I been thinkin' all day how Granny Hope tucked your dead brat alongside his mammy in the coffin. Some awful thinkin', Larry man!"

The squatter's sudden grayness and swallowing hard as if something had stuck in his windpipe was the only evidence he gave that he had heard the cruel words.

"We got 'er just after dark," he continued, woefully. "She's been tied up in my shack ever since."

"Good 'nough for 'er!" gasped Polly, tensely, rolling her hands in her apron.

"An' she yelled so hard you could've heard her near to Ithaca, Poll," moaned Larry. "Me an' Lye gagged 'er."

"Holy smut!" fell from Pollyop, as the picture his words had made burned itself across her mind.

"Her man's been gone all day to Cortland," continued the squatter in a monotone. "Lye found out Old Miss Robertson's been tryin' to reach hold of him."

"Hope she don't!" interjected Polly. "Not till we get done with his woman. Are you goin' to tote her over here?"

The man nodded.

"Don't dare to till later, when the squatters is in bed," he answered, slapping on his cap. "If—if you change your mind, Poll, come along over; an' I'll cut 'er loose an' let 'er go."

A harsh sound, something like a chuckle of malicious satisfaction, slipped through Polly's lips and stopped the man at the door.

"That ain't no ways likely, Larry," she said huskily. "Bring 'er here, an' when I'm done with her, she'll have to be took."

She caught Bishop by the arm, whirling him around.

"An' listen, Larry," she continued with cruel emphasis, "an' all the time keep rememberin' how Betty wailed her life into the grave, an'—an' that Old Marc done it."

Overcome by the words she had thrown at him so deliberately, Bishop flung away, and the girl, quaking at what was about to happen, heard him running along the shore toward his shack.

It seemed to Polly Hopkins that every minute was an hour long, and every second filled with intolerable anxiety. Would the soft-hearted Larry repent and surrender the prize she longed to get her fingers on?

In extreme nervousness she went from one thing to another, never finishing what she began. She paced the hut floor until she was dripping wet with apprehensiveness. She had no means of knowing when Lye and Larry would come; so she dared not stir from the shack.

Many times she shoved aside the window blind and looked out. But the world outside was wrapped in a white silence. She could not even glimpse the peaked roof of a fisherman's hut, for between her and the Silent City was a flowing curtain of snow, the flakes falling like feathers from an open bag.

Larry would keep his word, she told herself over and over. She was glad it was such a night! The better could the squatters carry out their death plan.

Unnoticed by the girl, the wood burned to embers in the stove, and the hut grew colder by degrees. In one of her half hours of measuring the shanty's length, she halted, breathing on her frost-bitten fingers. She drew about her shoulders the blanket which had covered Wee Jerry in his hut days.

Her mind brought back to the baby away off in some unknown place, she cried weakly as she replenished the fire. Had the wicked ones of the earth made Jerry forget Daddy Hopkins who up in Auburn was ignorant of his whereabouts? Many times Polly had taken up her pencil to write him of the child, but it always dropped from her fingers before it reached the paper. Daddy could not do anything; and she would not add to his heavy burden.

She was at the stove, her cold, stiff fingers spread over it, when the sound of footsteps outside sent her headlong to the door. Appallingly terrified, she dragged it open.

Then, in deadening silence, Lye Braeger and Larry Bishop carried a large bundle through the doorway and threw it down on Polly's bed.

Heavy-lidded, the girl gazed upon it, her eyes widening in joy, joy at the thought of Old Marc's misery; joy at the thought of getting even. The frightful emotion that surged through her bore relation only by contrast to the delights of a few months back, when her willing legs had trotted the country over to help every one that needed her. It wasn't the same Polly at all. This Polly lifted her foot and kicked the bundle none too lightly.

"We had a h—l of a time gettin' 'er here, Poll," growled Lye Braeger. "Outside it's like if a million crazy devils was howlin' over the hills. But we brought 'er just the same! Now do what you like with 'er, brat!"

White teeth gleamed through the maniacal smile that parted the girl's lips. At last! She had not lived through interminable days for nothing!

"Scoot out, you!" she ordered, waving her hand at them, "an' keep a watch about till I get done!"

Braeger made for the door as if anxious to be gone; but Larry Bishop held to the spot where he stood.

BOOZE IN LEGISLATURE

Senator Says Majority of Members Indulged During Session.

Baltimore April 10—State Senator Robert Biggs, in an address before the City Club, scored members of the General Assembly, just adjourned, for hypocrisy on the liquor question. "Without divluging State secrets," he asserted, "I may say that the Volstead act was violated every day throughout the session by approximately 75 per cent of the members of the Legislature and by a very large percentage of the people who came to Annapolis in favor of or against the measures referred to, and it is more than an open question as to whether the effort to enforce the Volstead act by a co-operative measure in Maryland did anything more than to indicate a considerable amount of personal hypocrisy in the matter of prohibition."

The Senator criticised sharply the effort of an active minority to force, in irresponsible manner, moral legislation npou the majority of the people. He also attacked the disposition of the Federal Government to invade the rights of states and to take charge of the citizen from a period before birth until his burial, the control of birth being exercised through the Sheppard-Towner bill and the control of burial through regulation of the National Casket Company.

The Story of a Famous Ballet Dancer

Clara Kassino is famous all over the world for her wonderful dancing. She has made a specialty of performing with the great Tent Shows of the world.

For seventeen years Madame Kassino was associated with the great Ringling Brothers Circus. You will remember that each year they presented a great Pageant. One year it was Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp, and another year it was Cinderella, etc. In these Pageants, Clara Kassino was the star, presenting beautiful dancing, especially in toe dancing, at which she is an expert. More than this, although she has now retired from the Show world actively, she is still a very beautiful woman, in figure, as well as face, but in spite of the wonderful and remarkable preservation, she has suffered, as other women do.

She says, "For several years before I retired, and even until lately, I had a great deal of stomach trouble. The medicine prescribed by physicians and that recommended by others did not help me, but at last one of the people of the Show told me to try Sanalt. I was generally out of sorts; my complexion was getting bad, and lotions and ointments that I used did no good, and I noticed that the worse my complexion got the poorer my digestion became, and the greater constipation. Sanalt acted in such a way upon the blood that it soon cleared up my complexion, restored my appetite, and removed constipation. I cannot say too much in praise of Sanalt."

Hundreds of famous actors, dancers and acrobats have used Sanalt and have made it known all over the world as "Sanalt, the Sensible Tonic."

Any obliging druggist will supply you with Sanalt.

RELIGIOUS MANIA IN COUNTY

Eleven patients were removed from the York County almshouse to the state hospital for the insane at Harrisburg during the month of March. Seven of these were suffering from religious mania, three from suicidal mania and one from an imbecilis condition. Three of the insane are members of one family. Their minds became unbalanced by too fervent devotion to the doctrines of a sect known as the "Holy Rollers".

Records of the institution show that the number of insane inmates, transferred from the almshouse to the hospital in Harrisburg in March, is the largest in any one month in a long period of years. Alienists among the York physicians report that there seems to be an epidemic of religious mania in York county.

LOST FIRST GAME AT EASTON

Game Won in Third Inning By Lafayette When Gazella's Second Homer Broke Defense.

Gettysburg College baseball team lost the opening game of the season on Saturday when they were defeated, by a 9-5 score, by Lafayette College, at Easton. The game was lost in the third inning, when the opposing batters got on to Plowman and scored five runs before the slaughter was brought to an end. Plowman was relieved by Wise, who left the Lafayette sluggers down with one hit in five innings. However, the College club was unable to overcome the big lead and a batting rally in the final inning produced only two tallies before Brunner pulled down a long one in left and ended the game with two runners on base. This was the second victory this season for the Easton college.

Coach Coughlin's team crossed the plate five times in the third frame. With one out, Willever was safe on Mordan's error. He stole second and scored on Captain Bieber's hit to right field. "Mike" Gazell made his second homer of the year on a terrific wallop to deep centre, scoring Bieber ahead of him. Chilson was out, but Brunner singled, scoring Gazella. A minute later Brunner tallied on Van Hart's double to left. Ernst sent Van Hart across with a single to left.

Gettysburg scored twice on Longaker in the fifth inning, when Meyers hit a homer into centre field with Gingerich on first. They also got to Starcher in the eighth and ninth for four hits and three runs. Lafayette got but one hit off Wise, who relieved Plowman in the third.

Plowman and Brunner provided the fielding features of the game, Plowman making a one-handed leaping catch of Longaker's clout in the fifth inning. Brunner had two long running catches, the last ending the game with two Gettysburg men on the bases.

HIGH SCHOOL LOST ANOTHER GAME

Unable to Get More Than Two Hits Off Smith's Delivery at Shippensburg.

Gettysburg High School again bowed to the strong Shippensburg High nine when they met on the Shippensburg diamond Saturday, losing by a 6-0 score. The cause of this defeat was the inability of the locals to hit and their loose fielding on the defensive.

Although the locals touched up Smith quite freqently, his support was adamant. Swope, the Fairfield lad, pitched fair ball but was handicapped in the first several innings by poor support. He fanned six man and Smith struck out eleven.

McKendrick, the first man up for Gettysburg, was hit by a pitched ball and later caught trying to steal second. Oyler struck out and C. Bream whiffed. Angle reached first on an infield hit and stole second. Grove reached second on a wild throw by Swope, Angle advancing to third. Angle scored on a wild pitch and Grove tallied on Cashman's sacrifice. Smith bingled to left and Minehart fanned.

Swope was an easy out. Zinn and Scott retired on strikes. Strike reached first on Scott's error and later reached third on an overthrow. Greedy reached first on McKendrick's error. Lutz grounded out to Swope, Greedy reached third on another miscue and he scored on Angle's hit. Angle pilfered second, reached third on a bad peg by Weikert. Angle scored on Bream's error. Swope retired the next man and Cashman grounded out to McKendrick.

G. Bream went out on a fly to first. Weikert was an easy out to the pitcher. Buehler flyed out, Basehoar flyed out, Smith singled, Minehart flyed out and Strike advanced Smith to second on a hit. Swope then put himself in a hole by walking the next man, which loaded the sacks. Oyler retired Lutz out at first.

The next innings went one, two, three for both sides. Gettysburg made two hits in the seventh and ninth innings, but was unable to score.

Considerable routine business was transacted by the Board of Directors, including the payment of the teachers' salaries for the seventh month.

Discussion of the tax rate for the new year took up considerable time. A budget is being made up on the estimated expenditures and after the submission of these figures, the tax rate will be set. There is every prospect of the new rate being at least one mill lower than the total for this year, the cut probably being made in the number of mills laid for the payment of the bond issue.

The members present at the meeting were: President, John H. Seasley; Vice President, G. H. Knouse; Secretary, Willis H. Lady and U. S. Kleinfelter and Dr. M. T. Dill.

PLAN REDEDICATION

Alterations Being Made to Steelton Lutheran Church.

Alterations and improvements to St. John's Lutheran church, one of the largest in Steelton, which have been underway for several months, are nearing completion. Plans are being outlined for the re-dedication exercises to be held sometime next month.

The alterations and improvements, including the installation of a new $10,000 Moeller pipe organ, being carried out at the expenditure of approximately $25,000, will place St. John's church among the finest in that section.

The front part of the church was changed considerably by removing the organ, lowering the large windows and providing an altar and chancel. Refinishing of the pulpit and surroundings in the front of the church included work on the pulpit, lactern, fount and altar, which are all finished in light oak wood.

Other improvements included the replacing of light oak panelling around the church auditorium, which replaces the wainscoting used for many years. Highly polished hardwood floors replace old floor and new lighting fixtures of semi-direct type replace lights which were considered inadequate. An outside light will throw rays of light on a large window back of the altar, revealing a memorial glass at night.

Alterations will cost probably $6,000 and the needed repairs that have been made inside and outside the church approximately $8,000 additional. The Rev. Earl J. Bowman, pastor, assumed his duties as pastor late in 1919. He is a graduate of College in the class of 1911.

him. For a short time the girl permitted his attentions, but shortly after Christmas she returned his presents, a wrist watch, which was recovered with the body, and asked him to discontinue his calls.

Early in the winter Miss Jenkins went to the home of her grandparents to live, because of Mrs. Hess' illness. Several times Gartrell called on the girl at the Hess home, but each time he was asked not to return. On the day of the murder, six weeks ago, Gartrell drove up to the Hess home in a closed car, which he owned jointly with his brother, and was admitted to the home by Mr. Hess.

Asked For Miss Jenkins.

Gartrell asked if he might see Miss Jenkins, and he was asked to wait in the parlor. The family had returned from church services and was preparing for the noon meal. Miss Jenkins received Gartrell reluctantly and while her grandmother was preparing a place at the table for Gartrell the report of the revolver shot was heard. Rushing to the room, Mr. Hess saw his grandaughter lying on the floor with blood flowing from a wound in her head. Gartrell was pointing the revolver at his head, and before he could be prevented, had inflicted a slight wound on his forehead. He fell to the floor but soon attempted to arise. Mr. Hess, who is advanced in years, attempted to prevent an escape, but Gartrell threw Mr. Hess aside and ran to his automobile.

Although the alarm was sent out at once, Gartrell was on the edge of the city when he saw a city motorcycle officer approaching. He abandoned his car, and headed across the fields toward the river. He was followed, but he disappeared from view. The search was continued for weeks. Twice Sheriff Jones went into Virginia to indentify suspects. Literature and photographs of the youth were sent broadcast throughout the United States.

CAMPS FOR TOURISTS

Free camps at points along the State roads of Maryland will be thrown open in a few days for the use of tourist campers passing through the State.

According to present plans, those to be opened will be along the main roads leading from Baltimore over the Blue Ridge Mountains of Western Maryland. If the scheme is successful, camps will be set up at frequent intervals along all the State roads next summer. There will be five camps—one near Frederick, one at Braddock Heights, one at the Conococheague Creek, west of Hagerstown; one at Hancock and one at Frostburg. All will have water and sanitary provisions. Campers will be able to purchase small comforts from the man who holds the concession.

HAGERSTOWN NEEDS MONEY

"Money at once or no baseball in Hagerstown this year" is the ultimatum issued to fans by the leaders of that club. Exactly $2,500 in needed and needed right away to assure a Hagerstown team appearing in the Blue Ridge League at the opening of the season.

Despite the fact that the club this year is issuing stock, which there is every reason to believe will yield a nice return to holders at the end of the season, contributions are lagging.

This money is in immediate demand and must be had within a week or ten days. Approximately $500 has been subscribed to date.

HOOPER'S CLUB A WINNER

Eddie Hooper's Mount St. Mary's College baseball team got off to a flying start this season when they overwhelmed the strong Penn State nine. The former Chambersburg Maroon manager is well pleased with the playing of his team and expects to make a strong bid for the state collegiate title this spring. One of the stars of the game was Abbaticchio, brother of the once famous National League star, who played with Pittsburgh, Boston and Philadelphia some 12 or 14 years ago.

CANNOT ARRANGE SCHEDULE

The Eastern Shore Baseball League is having trouble adopting a schedule for the coming season. Several days ago the league moguls met, but couldn't get together on a schedule, so they decided to put the matter up to its schedule committee and abide by the decision made by that group.

MAY COME TO BLUE RIDGE

Ball Owens, of the Orioles, may stick or Dunn may decide to put him in the Blue Ridge, where he can get a chance to catch nearly every day, says a dispatch from Winson-Salem, the Baltimore camp.

RATES FALLING

The Susquehanna Orchards, Inc., Peach Bottom, and Red Lion Exchange, Red Lion, were chartered Saturday, the former with $30,000 and C. R. Hawkins, Delta, as treasurer, and the latter with $25,000 capital, T. B. Baird, treasurer.

BREAK BUILDING RECORD

New York, April 10—Building expenditures of 109 cities of the United States during March totaled $194,661,072, the greatest amount ever known in any one month in the country's history, according to Bradstreet's.

The biggest increases were noted in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Fittsburgh, Cincinnati, Rochester, Louisville, Milwaukee, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Houston, Atlanta, Baltimore, Washington, Denver, San Francisco, Seattle, and Portland, Oregon.

The March expenditures, although taken from only 109 cities, were 4 per cent in excess of the total in 163 cities for the largest previous month, April, 1920.

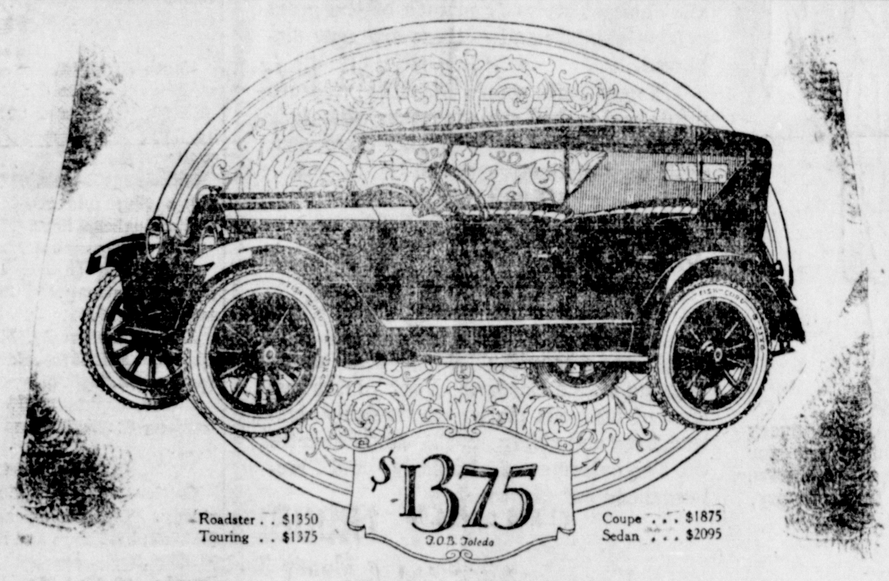
FISK TIRES



NEVER before has the amazing Knight sleeve-valve motor been available in so fine a car at so low a price. Europe uses the Knight motor in her most famous and expensive cars. Now Willys engineering, Willys quantity production, put it in the reach of all in a car equally famous, but far less costly.

The Motor

The Willys-Knight motor is the highest development of the Knight sliding sleeve-valve principle. It gets more power out of less gas than any other motor of its size and weight. It is free from valve trouble, free from carbon trouble, smooth, quiet, flexible. Scientific tests and driver experience show that it grows more powerful with use. And its life-limit has never yet been ascertained.

The Car

The Willys-Knight Car is especially designed to match the motor in long life and distinction. Graceful, refined, dignified, its sturdy steel chassis beats off jolts and jars and holds the body permanently free from rattles and squeaks. Vigilant springs translate the roll of the road into undulating ease. It is fleet, comfortable, responsible—and a sound investment.

CAPTIVATING SPRING MODES

For the Easter Promenade

Women everywhere will don new costumes on Easter day. The lure of smart Apparel in the new season's mode, and the zest of Spring in the air, tempt everyone on Easter morning to put on their best, step forth and join the fashion parade. That Easter may find you very stylishly attired, New Apparel in generous and distinctive assortments has been selected from fashion centers the country over; even Paris has contributed ideas of irresistible charm and England tweed and homespun wearables of extreme swagger. And the reasonable prices enable you to choose a perfect and complete costume ensemble without extravagance.

FROCKS
With Springtime Chic

By now Spring's favored modes are thoroughly established and you will choose Easter Frocks from just the most fascinating of the new designs. Folds and side drapes accenuating the lovely suppleness of crepes are most becoming; cloth street Frocks smartly cling to neutral tones, and these are the merest inklings of what this group contains.

$15.00 to $45.00

CAPES
That Fashion Favors

If you breeze forth on Easter morning flaunting a new Cape the approval af fashion awaits you—in fact you will be genuinely pleased with yourself in one of these famously soft English woolen Capes, daringly fringed and maybe featuring a cozy scarf collar.

$15.00 to $60.00

Outfitting the Miss for Easter

Junor Misses think that Easter is the absolute deadline for new Spring Clothes, they must have everything assembled by then; it's done by everyone in their set. One readily winks at this Flapper philosophy in view of the very interestingly clever togs gathered here for her.

HER SUIT

Five minutes spent before a full-length mirror by the Miss wearing one of these clever Suits, twill or tweed will satisfy her that her mirrored self is undeniably smart, without one dissenting detail.

HER FROCKS

Taffeta dancing Frocks so bouffant that they might have been made in 1860 and which have lost none of their charm for the figure of sixteen in the interim come in softly vivacious hues. Frocks for daytime are just as alluring.

Dress accessories of every character are so important for the Easter promenade. We have the snappy things in neckwear, etc., you need.

DAINTY EASTER BLOUSES

To complement your tailleur on Easter Day are costume Blouses of white crepe de chine with peasant sleeves, neckline and embroidery, as well as filet-trimmed styles of bisque georgette; and of course you understand what character smartly tailored dimity Blouses with front frills and Bramley collars lend to a suit that after Easter is put into everyday service.

SKIRTS ARE VERY SMART

The sports tendency that approves boldly designed fabrics and the curt boxed jackets that smile on Skirts of contrasting hue are factors contributing to the assured success of these Separate Skirts of kasha, trelaine, homespuns in wrap-around, fringed and always pleatless styles.

$5.75 to $18.50

SUITS
In Smart Easter Guise

Whatever else you may have listed under "Easter Shopping" you doubtless have a Suit. Anticipating a great demand for smart Tailleurs our buyers selected the choicest styles from each of the great market exhibits and these are now displayed.

Tweed Suits whose jackets feature pleats and tucked areas together with their cape accompaniments still hold their own with very distinctive twills.

$15.00 to $50.00

WRAPS
Choose Now for Easter

Matrons especially enjoy the soft draping of a beautiful Wrap—will enjoy wearing one on Easter. Very luxurious ones of Marvella cloth are lavishly embroidered and richly lined. In silhouette the two extremes of circularly and rectangularly cut are touched.

$12.75 to $60.00

Easter Apparel for Larger Women

It isn't best to wait 'til then, but still it is perfectly possible for a large woman to select a complete costume the day before Easter from our distinctive displays of Stout Apparel—a joy when she recalls how formerly the smartness of ready mades was denied her.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

Marijane may go off to Sunday School on Easter morning in a perky organdie frock, and Brother Billy who takes her by the hand may wear a manly Oliver Twist Suit.

Dresses $3.00 to $6.50

Clever Tub Suits for little Boys come in varied styles and colors.
$2.00 to $3.25

Gift giving at Easter—is it a custom with you? How mother or sister would enjoy finding some little remembrance on Easter morning and what an attractive way of meeting out of town social indebtedness that distance makes it difficult to repay. And your Easter wishes to very dear friends are best carried by some lasting souvenir such as a visit to the Accessory or Novelty Jewelry Sections will suggest.
